A BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE

A Gem From Senator Vest--What the Power of Elocution Will do With a Jury.

Ose of the most beautiful tributes ever paid to a dog was delivered by S nator Vest, of Missouri, a few years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting her the trial of a case in which he was interested, he was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them. He was paid a fee of $250 by the plaintiff. Volumpious evidence was introduced to show that the plaintiff had shot the dog in malice, while other evidence went to show that the dog had attack ed the defendant. Vest took no part in the trial, and was not disposed to speak The actorneys, however, nrged him to make a speech or else they would think he had not earned his fee. Being thus urged, he arose, scanned the face of each juryman. and said:

"Gentlemen of the jury :- The best friend a man has in the world may them honest. turn against him and and become his enemy. His son or daughter, that he has reared with loving care, may prove ungrateful Those who are dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiress and our good name, may become traitors to their faith The money that a man has be may lose. It fles away from him when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill consider ed action. Those who are prope to fall on their knees to do us hone when success is with us, may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads. The one absolutely neces sary unselfish friend that a man car have in this world, the one that nev er deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is the dog. A man's dog stands by him in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer: he will lick the sores and wounds that come to encounter with the rounghness of this world. He guards the sleep of a pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends ono. 'Good morrow, father Isaac,' treatment. Botanic Blood Balm (B. desert, he remains. forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of ecompaning him to gnafe against langer, to fight against his enemies. and when the last scene of all comes, and death lakes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter it all other friends pursue their way, there by the grave will his noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but upon in alert watchfuluess, faithful and true even in death " Then Vest sat down. He had spoken in a low voice, without a jes ture. He made no reference to the evidence or the merits of the case. When he finished judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury filed out but soon entered with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500. He had sued for $250. Mr. Rockhill, the American special commissioner, is the only one of the foreign representatives who is making a strenous demand for river and harbor improvements and increased trade privileges in all China, which if granted, would be of great benefit to China as well as to foreign countries. The majority of the ministers are concentrating all their attention in securing a speedy payment of the indemnities and neglecting measures that would be mutually beneficial. The impression is growing that the negotiations will soon be finished. Then the troops will evacuate Pekin and the court will return, all without any guarantee of permanent security in the future, thorough reform of the New Orleans government or feelings of mutual good will. The ministers and military men alike are, tired of the long-drawn out discussions over the settlement of the indemnity.

The Department of State has been informed reliably that the Chinese Government has issued a decree agreeing to pay an indemnity of 450,000,ooo taels, equivalent to about three hundred and thirty seven million dollars at the present rate of exchange.
